

Palma Super Yacht Show 2017

The Palma Super Yacht Show 2017, one of THE important events on the Mediterranean's yachting scene.

The Palma Super Yacht Show is held again this year from April 28th to May 2nd, 2017 in Palma de Mallorca, Spain.

Just in time for bikini and summer yachting season, the 2017 Palma Super Yacht Show exhibition showcases an array of impressive yachts and super yachts. From the 70 yachts on display to purchase or charter, you are sure to find a style that best suits your preferences and price point too.

Obviously, this event is geared towards the super-rich, but it's also suitable for anyone likes fancy yachts or anything nautical.

Yes, the yachts are outrageously expensive. Yes, to even place your foot on board to look around, you'll probably need to present your American Express Centurion Card. I haven't the money nor the AMEX card, but am going anyway. The Palma Super Yacht Show runs concurrently with the Boat Show Palma where you can purchase a ticket for only 6 EUR per person.

The beauty of the both boat shows is not only the premiere yacht designs, but the venue. The exhibitions are located at Moll Vell on the old pier. With the Palma Cathedral Le Seu in the background, you will be dazzled as the seas glitter and glisten on the beautiful Mediterranean.

And what about the food? Plan to hear a lot of cork popping and see lots of Champagne being poured. For us common folk, I'd recommend looking for a food truck serving fish and chips.

You may not be able to afford a yacht so check out some of the other exhibitions. You'll find information on nautical tourism, diving schools, leisure fishing, a second-hand market, food, bands, and fun for all.

Ahoy for now mates, I'm headed to the Palma Super Yacht Show.
